DAVIDSON IS CHOSEN BY GOV'T

Provincial Government Selects Coleman Man for Responsible Position — Headquarters Are to be at Calgary.

W. A. Davidson, mine manager for the International Coal and Coke Company here, has received, or will receive in the near future, the Provincial Government appointment of supervisor of technical instruction in coal mining for the Province of Alberta, and will thus become a member of the staff of instructors in technology, with headquarters at Calgary.

No statement has been made by the Provincial authorities concerning this appointment, nor has Mr. Davidson said anything about it to The Bulletin, nevertheless the source of our information is absolutely reliable and possibly by the time this paper reaches our readers the formal announcement will have been made by the Department.

John T. Stirling, chief mines inspector for Alberta, Dr. Miller of the department of technology, and Inspector Shaw of Blairmore, spent a day in Coleman this week, and it is understood the above appointment was definitely arranged then.

The appointment of Mr. Davidson to this particular position is of special importance in that it is the first time that such an appointment has ever been made on the continent—it is a recognition of the mining industry.

It is understood that the appointment is to go into effect in a month or less, and while the people of Coleman will regret to learn that Mr. Davidson and his estimable wife are about to leave us, they will nevertheless be glad to know of Mr. Davidson's recognition as one of the foremost mining men of the Province—a recognition that is entirely justified.

PASS MEN IN CASUALTY LIST

Many people of The Pass, especially of Hillcrest and Bellevue, will regret to learn that J. C. Anglin, who was stationed at Hillcrest as Methodist missionary for a number of months, and who enlisted early in the war, has been reported as missing for several weeks.

Also Rev. F. T. Cook, who was stationed at Bellevue and who resigned his pastorate there to go to the front, has received an injury to his hand. While his injury does not appear to have been of a very serious nature, it was nevertheless sufficient to keep him in the hospital for a time.

SUCCEEDS MR. EASTWOOD

W. E. Cooper, of Blairmore, has purchased the cleaning and pressing business formerly conducted by "Bob" Eastwood. Mr. Cooper, whom we had the pleasure of knowing in Pincher Creek a few years ago, is a workman of more than ordinary ability, and the people of Coleman will find him efficient and obliging at all times.

This map of the north-western part of France shows in comparatively good detail the region in which the victorious British and French advances have been made, marking, it is believed, the beginning of the great allied offensive, and therefore the beginning of the end for German military power. Most of the points recently figuring in the despatches will be recognized.

REMOVING LANDMARK

One of the old landmarks of The Pass is now in course of demolition in Frank, and the church building there—which, by the way, has served more than one denomination—will soon be a thing of the past. A new hall is to be erected in Frank this summer, as stated in a recent issue of The Bulletin, and the material from the old building will be used as far as possible in the new structure.

The building that is now being torn down has something of a history. After a visit to The Pass in 1900, Rev. H. R. Grant, Presbyterian minister then at Pincher Creek, advised the Presbytery to send a missionary to work between Burns and McLaren's mill. Consequently Mr. McKeiche, of Scotland, was sent, and he remained for the summer months, making his headquarters at Blairmore. At first this was the most important point; but towards the end of the summer, owing to the development of the mining industry at Frank, the greater portion of the population of Blairmore removed to Frank, so that by the end of September the latter place had become the more important of the two.

At this time a visit was made by Dr. Robertson, superintendent of missions for the North-West Territories, who conferred with Mr. Gebo, then manager of the Canadian American Coal and Coke Company about the prospects of building a church. Mr. Gebo donated two lots and one hundred dollars on behalf of the company. Immediately a church was organized and partly built. It was finished in 1902. During that time a Mr. Stewart was in charge, and he was followed by Rev. D. G. McPhail.

The first trustees of the church were Dr. Malcomson, S. W. Chambers and A. Cameron.

Rev. T. M. Murray followed Mr. McPhail at Frank, and remained in charge until 1909. During this period Methodist ministers used the church for their service also. One of these ministers, Rev. H. B. Ward, a young man from Nova Scotia, was in Frank at the time of the slide. He died shortly afterwards, partly from shock and partly from other causes. The bell in the church is dedicated to his memory. He was followed by a Rev. Carscallan, now in China. Next came Rev. Haddon, now of Delbourne, Alta., then Rev. J. B. Francis, and afterwards Rev. F. S. McCall, now principal of Alberta college.

During the latter's pastorate the church was purchased from the Presbyterians by the Methodists. Previous to this a plan of "co-operation" was worked out by which the Methodists were to confine their activities to Bellevue and Frank, and the Presbyterians to Blairmore and Coleman. The church was then named Knox Methodist church.

Rev. McCall was followed by Rev. K. Kingston, now of New Brunswick, and then came Rev. W. T. Young, the present incumbent.

Manager Lunk of the Crystal Dairy at Blairmore, made a business trip to Coleman Wednesday afternoon and gave The Bulletin a call. Mr. Lunk plans many improvements to the dairy and will no doubt be rewarded with an increased patronage.

ESTABLISH A RECORD

Blairmore, July 12.—The West Canadian Collieries, limited, established something of a record for their Greenhill mine on Monday of this week when a total of 1,038 tons of coal were shipped.

This mine is really in the development stage yet, having only been opened up during the last year or so, but the management have succeeded in gradually increasing the output since the revival of the coal mining business in The Pass. A month ago the regular daily output was about 850 tons, and during the last month the amount mined each day has been increased to about 950 tons. Monday's output, however, is the record so far.

This company finds a ready market for its product, and by their system of grading they are able to put on the market a rather good quality of domestic coal as well as an excellent steam coal.

The official notice re Coleman's tax enforcement return appears elsewhere in this issue.

Messrs. T. W. Davies, McBurney and Morrison took a jaunt up to Glacier Creek Monday evening on a fishing expedition. They pulled lots of things out of the water, including a Ford car. Next!

CEMENT WORKS NOW VERY BUSY

Blairmore Industry Finds Ready Market For its Output and Prospects Are Very Bright.

Blairmore, July 13.—For some time there have been rumors afloat to the effect that the Rocky Mountain Cement Works here were to be closed down in the near future, for an indefinite period. Enquiry at the office of the company, however, reveals the fact that there is absolutely nothing in these stories. On the contrary, the manager of the company stated to your correspondent today that they have enough orders on hand now to keep the works humming for quite a considerable time, and new orders are being booked all the time.

The plant here has a capacity of over 600 barrels daily and at the present time employs about 80 men and is clamoring for more men all the time. The quality of the product is meeting with good success, and there is absolutely nothing to indicate any change from present conditions—running at full capacity.

In conversation with the efficient manager, L. G. Eaton, it was learned today that the city of Calgary is using Blairmore cement and find it quite satisfactory, while the same cement is being used exclusively in a new hospital now being built at Moose Jaw.

Yesterday something in the way of a record was established by the works here when the output for the day amounted to 689 barrels, being the greatest output for any single day this year, and about a hundred barrels more than the largest output for any one day in 1915.

With both our mine and our cement plant establishing such creditable records daily it begins to look as if Blairmore was coming back to its own and would ere long justify its claim as the industrial and commercial centre of The Pass.

PASS MEN WIN IN FOOTBALL

Calgary, July 11.—The 192nd football team won from the 218th team last night in the Sarcos camp league by a score of 3 to 1. The 192nd was on the aggressive most of the time and deserved the game by reason of having the greater part of the territorial play. The 192nd scored the only counter of the first half, when Verley bagged the sphere after about 10 minutes had elapsed. Easton scored the second goal for the 192nd shortly after the beginning of the second half and then McPhee for the 218th countered. With the score 2 to 1, great excitement reigned for a time, but the 192nd showed their edge by shooting another goal at which figures the score remained.

192nd—Wollet, goal; Graham and Beveridge, backs; Mitchell, McCulloch and Fisher, halfbacks; Fisher, Allan, Varley, Jordon, Fisher and Cox, forwards.

CHILD DROWNED IN FATHER'S SIGHT

Fell off Bridge and Was Swept Away While Father Tried to Rescue it.

(Unavoidably crowded out last week).

Bellevue, July 5th.—A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Catholic church on Monday, when Mr. Joseph McMullen and Miss Fukes were married by the Rev. Father McBeaton. The bride was supported by Miss Mary Bosley and the groom was supported by Mr. James Carde, of Bellevue. The bride wore a navy blue costume, with a hat to match. After the ceremony the party went to Hillcrest, where a very dainty luncheon was prepared. After the luncheon the couple went to Calgary for their honeymoon. The bride and groom were both residents of Hillcrest, but the ceremony was at Bellevue.

Mrs. R. G. Randall and family left Tuesday for Calgary, where they will reside in future.

Miss Clara Simmons, of Lacopipe, is visiting in camp for a time, the guest of Miss Nora Mitchell.

R. Falconer and wife were at Calgary attending the exhibition.

Bill Weldon and staff have just finished two rooms for the Boston Cafe.

Patrick McGuire has finished his shack and is now occupying the same. The measles are still plentiful in camp and the cards are getting on nearly every door.

Bill Weldon has secured the contract of putting eight rooms onto the Bellevue Cafe.

Bellevue is so dry since the first of July that things are burning up for the want of a little moisture.

A very sad accident occurred in Bush Town on the first of July, when the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Crebulest fell off the foot bridge that crosses to Hillcrest and was drowned. The father of the child was with it when it fell off and jumped in to try and save the boy, but the fast running water in the river took the child away so quickly that he could do nothing. The body has not as yet been found.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Rudd went to Calgary by train to take in the exhibition.

Quite a bunch of Bellevue people attended the exhibition. Among the bunch were A. Hamilton, J. Jackson and James Carde.

Mrs. Emmerson, of Coleman, has been visiting in camp, the guest of Mrs. S. Humble.

Ed. Boasley was in from North Fork this week and reports things good on that part of the plantation.

Mrs. Wm. Patterson moved to Cowley this week, where she will reside in future.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. McDonald were attending the exhibition at Calgary, returning home on Tuesday.

Doctor Gerring, of Pincher Creek, was in camp on Tuesday.

Mrs. A. Burcey went to Pincher Creek on Wednesday on business.

James Carney, accompanied by Jack, his brother, was in camp on Sunday.

The July issue of Rod and Gun is replete with material of interest to the sportsman, whether he be fisherman, hunter, dog fancier, gun crank or what not. Bonnycastle Dale contributes the leading article "The Pursuit of the 'Maskinonge'; F. V. Williams gives a chapter in the adventurous life of a Seal Pup; Geo. H. Sarver relates an experience in which British Columbian sportsmen are attacked by grizzlies; Edward T. Martin describes a fight put up by a wild goose when attacked by a retriever. Other stories and articles, in addition to the regular departments are: Burns of Benwell, A Good Friday Visit to Jack Miner's Preserve near Kingsville; Yachting in Cape Breton; Miseries of Fishing: A Tenderfoot lost in the woods of Cloud's Bay, Port Arthur, etc. etc. The July issue is a good one to tuck into the outer's kit when setting forth on his vacation.

Rumor has it that Blairmore is soon to have new citizens; that Mr. J. C. Boudreau, of Frank, is about to enter into business with contractor D. A. Sinclair.

WHAT THE ALLIANCE BETWEEN GREAT BRITAIN AND RUSSIA MEANS

ABSOLUTE ACCORD BETWEEN GREAT NATIONS

Sergius Sazanoff, the Russian Minister, Says That It Has Become An Alliance of the Hearts of the People, and That It Will Assure the Peace of the World

The absolute accord between Great Britain and Russia means that the alliance formed in time of war against a common enemy has become an alliance for all time."

Thus wrote Sergius Sazanoff, the Russian Foreign Minister, in an interview with the London Times. Petrograd correspondent.

The alliance made by the Governments has now become an alliance of the hearts of the people. Sergius Sazanoff and his friend see the realization of the loftiest dream of my career, for in the true friendship of England and Russia the peace of the world is assured for many years to come. We shall then probably win the war, although the struggle itself may continue for years. Crystalization of the idea that England, France and Russia cannot be alienated from each other is the certainty that the Central Powers will lose, no matter how they may by fortitude and internal sacrifice postpone the inevitable day of the admission of their defeat.

"With the realization of the Entente's amity and unity must come also the permanent dissipation of the mischievous idea that the Russians are a people who are naturally given to aggression, planning to advance their own aims at the expense of Europe. Nothing is further from the Russian character. With our southern outlet now secured, we can, I believe, by the loftiness of growth and development of our economic and industrial life secured, with our boundaries suitably adjusted and our fellow-countrymen the chief of the desires and aims of Russia in the west are fulfilled. We can then turn, to the true aspirations of the Russian Government and people, namely, the development of our vast empire and the furthering of the interests of the nation's peoples embraced within our empire.

Victory for The Allies

Dr. Grenfell Thinks That War Will Last For Some Time Yet

Some very interesting observations on the war are made by Dr. Wilfred Grenfell of Labrador fame in his Autumn Outlook. Upon his return from Labrador last autumn, where for a quarter of a century he has been conducting a great work of civilization, Dr. Grenfell fell ill and during a winter vacation from that work to accept a position with the Harvard surgical unit, operating in France, after which he visited the northern armies in France in order to gain more direct experience in the first line trenches.

Asking by the Outlook to give his impressions about the war from experience, Dr. Grenfell expresses his own personal views on a great variety of subjects, propounding the different aspects of the great struggle in which he and his brothers have no answer to. The article is too long to deal with in detail in this column—but references may profit be made to certain questions which are in every one's mind these days.

Answering the question: "How about Verdun?" Dr. Grenfell says: "The Germans brought half a million men from the Russian front to take Verdun, but they said that they were prepared to sacrifice that number to take it. They have paid up to date a quarter of a million. What they want is the moral effect. They are not the soldiers and the people who still believe they have won, and for whom it is necessary that Verdun should be taken to keep up the delusion."

Asked "How will the end of the war come?" Dr. Grenfell answers: "Some say it will be through military victory, others through diplomacy, with not more help, I fear this cannot be for some time, but I am equally sure it can be." Others seem to think the neutral nations will have to join in to defeat Germany.

"With the war end soon?" No, I do not think it will. The general opinion is that it will last a long time longer, yet not a single soul doubts that it will end in the end."

Dr. Grenfell tells of the wonderful work of the British army medical corps, which has held down the wastage from sickness all the way between the Yser and the Rhine, "about as many men like Flanders, to just half" that in ordinary civil life. A single case of typhoid diagnosed anywhere in the four armies would be known the same day at headquarters, and an inquiry made locally would follow automatically.

The Germans are cruel, systematic, ally so, says Dr. Grenfell. Their cruelty is part of their own national psychology, and it is being justified on the ground that "it is necessary."

On the contrary, Dr. Grenfell says the Turks are not cruel like the Germans, but the report of the German soldiers are doped on occasion before going into action, and he records wounded Germans as explaining the reason why the Germans did not come to attack the Entente formations, despite the enormous losses in life entailed, on the ground that "large numbers will not attack at all without the stimulus of being shoulder to shoulder with other men."

This is not because of any lack of

"The realization of this solemn truth must demolish the fallacies and falsehoods created by enemies regarding the alleged Slav peril to Europe, and must bring convincing evidence that the Russian does not stand as a menace to Norway, Sweden and other neighbors, and that the Swedes will not realize the false and vicious idea that Russia has any national aspirations whatever that in the slightest way infringes on their rights. I hope to dispel the recent rumors regarding the Aland Islands which now happily are dispelled, will prove the last error of suspicion of the Swedes regarding Russia."

M. Sazanoff referring to the promise, said:

"No one deplores more than the Russian Government the sufferings which have come to Poland and the Polish refugees from the Teuton scourge. His Majesty the Emperor has so much at his distress in his Polish projects that the master demands for human sympathy have swept aside military aspects, and has only given permission for wide-spread and rapid marches, among them by the Rostoveller Commission for it seemed better to him that there should occur a leakage in the relief provisions than that a single Polish subject should suffer unnecessarily."

"The Poles cannot expect that in this life and death struggle we will be able to outline in full our program for Poland's future, but Poland will receive a just and equitable arrangement of its rights and interests suited to its future life and its economic and industrial development is certain.

courage, but because the heart of the average German soldier is not in the average, German soldier is not in the average, however, can they understand how the people in Great Britain and France regard the attitude of the United States toward the greatest of all the two world conflicts?

Some of the most interesting of Dr. Grenfell's observations are on the topic of how the people in Great Britain and France regard the attitude of the United States toward the greatest of all the two world conflicts?

Feeling that we are not up to the mark, and the Poles and the friends of the Poles may, therefore, look forward to the Russian for a day or two, and a period of unexampled development which will follow the inevitable successful conclusion of the war."

When Germans Find Out

The German people must demand to know how the world regards their armies as in south winning this war. If they are winning it they must demand that as their smallest reward that they be given to their brave and most to sustain them in their labors to keep an invincible army afied of achieving such glorious victory—such as they are not winning it. If they are not winning it they must demand that the German dictator abandon a struggle which, if it was bootless with ample supplies of men and of food and of treasure, should have to live in a world made tolerable only by her kith and kin after a gigantic struggle in which they could exist a world in which the German ideal was triumphant. Even if the allies win, unaided, they will feel a sort of sorrow that a communal sympathy proves America still to be, should have to live in a world made tolerable only by her kith and kin after a gigantic struggle in which they could exist a world in which the German ideal was triumphant. Even if the allies win, unaided, they will feel a sort of sorrow that a communal sympathy proves America still to be,

Some of the most interesting of Dr. Grenfell's observations are on the topic of how the people in Great Britain and France regard the attitude of the United States toward the greatest of all the two world conflicts?

Feeling that we are not up to the mark, and the Poles and the friends of the Poles may, therefore, look forward to the Russian for a day or two, and a period of unexampled development which will follow the inevitable successful conclusion of the war."

Poland and Russia

Poland Have Faith in Russia's Pledges to Their Country

Russian dailies of importance, including the Slovo of Moscow, understand that Emperor William is perturbed by the renewal of the Czar's pledge to Poland. The Czar is a real man, and the Polish nation uses her own tongue to teach her own culture in her own schools of all grades up to the university itself, declared Mr. Sazanoff to the German press. The Czar, he said, will grant Poland nothing like the Polish nation governing itself with the Czar as a constitutional sovereign. The form of the words was but, the Czar, he said, was not in a position to determine the Polish dynasty correctly. If the details supplied by the Figaro are correct, Poles throughout the world are for the most part assured of the good will of the Russian Government.

The Figaro, an independent newspaper, edited by Clemenceau, said that the Poles are justified in their acceptance of the Czar's pledges to their country.

Savings of People

S. W. Strauss, of Chicago, president of the American Society for Thrift, in contributing a short article on "The Savings of People," in the latest number of Leslie's Weekly Illustrated, gives some startling figures and facts.

He pointed out that at age twenty, if a person has $100,000, he is partly or wholly dependent upon relatives, friends or the public for food, clothing, etc., and that in the United States 90 per cent. of the people are living from hand to mouth, and that a loss of employment would mean pauperism for all but 2 per cent.

A new 6,000 miles coal basin is being opened up by a 500 miles extension to the Siberian Railway. This is not because of any lack of

An Impression Of Kitchener

Not Always Popular, But Always Adored by the British Soldiers

In the book "With Kitchener to Khartum," G. W. Stevens summed up his impressions of the "Organized of Victory" in terms that have stood the test of time and change. "He stands several inches over six feet," he wrote, "as tall as lance, and looks out upon us with a countenance more stern than ever. His motions are deliberate and strong; for tireless, steel wire endurance rather than for power or agility; that is irrelevant. Steady, passionless, and determined, he is the British soldier, rather full cheeks; a high forehead, a broad, open mouth; his face is harsh, and never shows a smile; his eyes are like steel; all the same, too; neither, age nor figure, nor face, nor any accident of person has any bearing on the soldier. You could imagine the character just the same in the most repulsive of men. He has no age but the prime of life, nobody but one to carry his mind, no face but one to keep his brain behind the brain and the will are the essence, and the whole of the man, brain and will so perfect in their workings that, in the face of the extreme difficulty, they never seem to know what struggle is. You cannot see that he is a man of flesh and blood, but you can see that he is a man of steel, steadfast, cold, and inflexible, the man who has cut out his human heart and made himself a machine to retake Khartum."

"The Poles cannot expect that in this life and death struggle we will be able to outline in full our program for Poland's future, but Poland will receive a just and equitable arrangement of its rights and interests suited to its future life and its economic and industrial development is certain.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Miss Cherrie is visiting friends in Lethbridge.

The summer school is now in full swing at the south end of the lake.

Dr. Darwin will occupy the pulpit of the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning.

A. Cameron has been spending a week or so at his fruit farm in the Creston district.

A. Olive and bride returned home Thursday from a short honeymoon trip to points in B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Short have returned from their honeymoon trip to Merritt and other B.C. points.

The Easton store on Main street has been brightened up with a coat of fresh paint this week. Charlie Graham did the job.

Two horses belonging to C. L. Gooey, and also one belonging to a resident of Bush Town, were killed on the railway track last week.

Recent letters from Pte. Chas. Ouimet, who has been in the hospital at Cliveden, intimate that he may be invalided home at an early date.

Alex. McLean has been appointed secretary of the school board in place of D. H. Hyslop, who is now a member of the 192nd battalion.

George Fairhurst, who moved from Coleman to St. Albert a few months ago, has returned to The Pass and is now employed at Frank.

Lieut. Mundy will address the regular meeting in the Salvation Army hall on Sunday evening, when the subject of his address will be "Fire."

Dr. and Mrs. McDonald, of Blairmore, motored up to Star Creek on Wednesday afternoon and spent the evening with Mrs. Leonard Norman.

Persons who have old clothing of any kind for which they have no further use should notify Capt. Acton of the Salvation Army. He will see that it is distributed to needy ones.

There will not likely be a bye election to fill the vacancy on the school board caused by D. H. Hyslop's enlistment with the 192nd. An election will not be held immediately at any rate.

Peter Allen and family have moved to St. Albert, Alta., where Mr. Allen has secured a good position. The removal of this family from Coleman leaves a vacancy that will be hard to fill, and though regretting their departure from our midst, the people of Coleman will wish them every success in their new home.

The present occupants of the Coleman hotel are giving up the premises on July 31st. A. Mutz, of Vulcan, spent a day in town this week and the above is the result. Just what will be done with the hotel or how it will be managed in future is not stated at the present time. Alex. M. Morrison has the property in hand and is offering it for rent. He should have no difficulty in finding a tenant, as there is an excellent opportunity here for some enterprising man to come in and run a good establishment.

Hun Cruelty to Besieged Paris

Children Died, and Germany Laughed at it, But it is Different in Their Own Case

The Germans have striven to prove that the British mocked at Germany contravening the laws of civilization, inasmuch as it may bring death by starvation to innocent women and children. There are two sides to the picture, however, and the Germans did the other in a brief record of the siege of Paris in 1870-71, when the Germans slowly starved a civilian population of more than 2,000,000 into surrender.

"We arrived in Paris in the middle of September," says the record.

"By October 8 our columns report that the daily consumption of horseshoe within the city had risen enormously.

"On November 20 no more than 100 men were left to be fed. On December 1 our correspondent stated that 'rat hunting is now vigorously carried on, to meet the demands of the restaurants.'

"The frequents of the restaurants were so great that the diet of other classes must have been terrible. On December 15 the population were put on a ration of horseshoe.

The ration was 30 grammes, or about an ounce.

"On January 15 the bread ration was reduced from 500 to 300 grammes, less than 10 ounces for adults, and to half that amount for children. This bread was a black mass of rye, buckwheat, oats, and even hay. Long files of women and children gathered before dawn at the bakers' shops in the rain, the cold and the snow of a winter in which the temperature sank to 21 degrees of frost.

"The animals in the Jardin des Plantes were fed on bread, sold at from 15 francs to 45 francs a pound, and even 'crottelettes de tige' are mentioned. There were markets for dogflesh and catfish, and an English writer partook of a 'trot' at which the sale of fish and cat was mice round it.

"There was no fuel and no light. The people starved from cold as well as from hunger.

"On February 14 one of the English parties to a broad front into Paris after the armistice told the Mansion House Relief Committee what he had seen. Some of the people assisted were buried in the snow, and when the place of distribution, and where the provisions were handed them 'they were unable to carry them home.' That is how the nation that reputated 'brutality' of our blockade remorselessly exercised its strict right of sieges.

"But perhaps the French children did not suffer? Perhaps the besieged bairns were fed? The world may see what was their fate during the German investment. The French did their best for them. To the very end 3,000 cows were ready to supply milk to the sick and non-combatants. But the supply was altogether insufficient. Milk began to run short so early as September 22 and a month later the ration was being distributed. By then, however, we find in an English correspondent says they were 'dying off like rotten sheep.'

"What were the feelings of the humanitarians toward this population of non-combatants, the innocent victims of their military operations? Did they regret the sufferings they caused? Were their piteous appeals at the gates of justice of any use? Let their idealized statesmen speak for them. When Jules Favre came to Bismarck to arrange for the armistice, the Prussian statesman asked him, 'What is the war?' The French representative had grown much graver; also stouter, probably on horseflesh, while the Count's gentlemanly smile was still as resolute in Paris as a suitable subject for conversation with the Frenchman's fuddled secretary.

"Favre told Bismarck that pretty children were still to be seen in the streets. 'I am surprised at the general champion of Prussian kultur replied: 'I wonder you have not yet eaten them.' And the Germans knew very well that the French cost the best of children their lives. They have been on very short commons in Paris for some time past." Bismarck's today and Boswell's records on January 2, 1915, show that the cost had been amounted to about 5,000." For the last week of December it had been 3,280, and for the week before 2,728.

"The mortality of humane Germans was equally heavy, many among children up to 2 years of age. Has any touch of pity? 'Coffins of tiny tiny French citizens,' he adds, 'were to be seen in all directions.' Herod might have jested so."

Berlin Without Soap

A party of Englishwomen who have just returned from Germany have reported an increase in scarcity of food there. Many families, for instance, do not eat meat for two or three weeks at a time. Fair cuts of veal pork, and mutton, average over $1.25 a pound. Ham is practically un procurable. Soap, which has almost disappeared, the people have even to care for how they use their towels.

High Cost of Preserving

Dealers in canned fruits are looking forward to a large increase in business this year. They believe that the high price of sugar will discourage people from putting up the usual amount of fruits. There may be something to that.—Buffalo Express.

One Day of Prohibition

Showing the Radical Effect of Dry Sundays in Chicago

Chicago has had a trial of prohibition of the liquor traffic every Sunday since the October 1st, and the result as reported would satisfy anyone but a drunkard or an idiot that the sooner the whole world goes dry the better for everybody. When the saloons were open there were about 300 of them, and a large number of accidents on Monday. Since the saloons are closed on Sunday there has not been a single accident the day after. Sunday accidents have been nearly reduced to zero.

The editor of the Templar has been in Chicago investigating and has given some interesting facts bearing on the subject. Ten per cent of bar tenders will not have a day of rest, and it has been estimated that the citizens of Chicago will save about twenty eight million dollars a year.

A chorus of approval comes from the heads of the big manufacturing and mercantile industries. The reports show that there are fewer Monday accidents than on Monday, saving more money on Monday, and Monday efficiency has greatly increased in the factories.

The foreman at Swift and Co. packing plants was quoted as saying that all workmen wanted to know about art, a movement that came home to him each day as he sat at his editorial desk, he resigned and went to Paris to become an art student.

John Murray Gibson, the painter, who had been writing a novel, has now given up his studio and is painting in the studio of Georges Quinet at night and spent the days in Colarossi's Atelier. Then he went to Italy and Algiers, Japan and China, and is now back in Paris.

Then one day an official position was offered him by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

At the age of forty one he accepted this position, and he has been writing a novel, which has been published by the famous publishing house of Hodder and Stoughton and S. B. Gandy in Toronto.

The manager of the Illinois Steel Plant issued a statement to this effect.

"Our workers were all on strike Monday for the first time in years." When we asked him what caused the change they said they had nothing to do with Sunday but rest for Monday. Marshall Field and Co., and the Home Street Department stores report the biggest Monday sales right of sieges.

That the Temperance forces should win such a victory in a city that has long been known as the heart of the beer interests is indeed good news. The American people are doing a lot of thinking these days.

way to mend the saloon is to end it.

Thrifty Danes Win Trade
Quality of Danish Butter is so High
That Market is Rapidly Extending

In Denmark the bread is home-baked, the women spin wool which the village weavers make into cloth, or which they knit into stockings. The women make their own dresses. Often they make clothes for their husbands and sons. Many make woolen shawls for the family and house furniture and farming implements. And the efficient Danes set Europe to example. Our result is that Danish butter is eaten in countries east of the Suez Canal and south of the equator. Vast quantities of Danish butter are shipped and the British last year sent continental countries and the output is so great, the quality so high, and the reputation of Danish butter so widespread, that it finds customers in lands far from the Danish farms as Patagonia or Tahiti.

Just formerly was discovered by geographers as a sterile waste. It is now a scene of highly profitable farming. The pastures are so small that even the great cattle are turned into milk. The farmers are so proficient that they tether their cows in rows and allow them to crop the grass within reach, removing them to the next day, and so on, until the next day, thus steadily moving camp, man, and horse. When the far side of the plot of ground has been reached the grass upon the side at which the grazing was first begun has grown so tall to be cropped again. The humidity of the atmosphere keeps Danish pastures green when those of many countries are parched and the process of marketing grass as butter is not often interfered with by drought.

There Are No Young Left
A reliable observer who recently made the trip along the frontier of Belgium wrote: "As I gazed over the barriers into that land of sorrow I saw aged men and women—there are no young left—plowing the stones.

This is tragedy, and the full force of it comes in the words "there are no young left."

A beautiful world this is and Nature never was so lovely and bountiful as now, but the ambitions of men trample upon the flowers and rob the homes.

The French Government has promised French farmers $1.73 per bushel for all the spring wheat they grow this year.

A Man's Worth

depends upon his power to produce what the world recognizes as of value.

And when you skirmish around you'll find that this power—which is just power of mind and body—depends to a remarkable degree on the food one eats.

For highest accomplishment one must have the best values in food—food which builds balanced bodies and brains.

Grape-Nuts

has that kind of value. It contains all the nutriment of whole wheat and barley, including the important mineral elements so often lacking in the usual dietary.

Grape-Nuts comes ready to eat, is easy to digest, nourishing, economical, wonderfully delicious—a help in building men of worth.

Some Famous Riders

Galaxy of Riding Stars Will Give Exhibition of Daring Feats at Moose Jaw Stampede

Among the many bucking-horse riders who will compete at the Moose Jaw Stampede, July 11th to 14th, are five of the best known and most daring riders in the world.

Most popular of the quintette are Emery LaGrande, the present world's champion, who is beyond doubt the greatest rider who ever lived, and the bucking star of the Quesnel Ranch, Sage Creek, Alta. LaGrande is hardly less famous and daring a rider than LaGrande, and these two men make a pair of stamped performers whose work in the plunging madmen division is a wonder in a journey of many, many miles.

With them will be Arta Triplett, one of the most dashing riders ever mounted in Ontario, and the "Lone Louis," a half-breed, who is known as the greatest rider ever sent out from California, and the man who was second to LaGrande at the Gleichen, Alta., bucking horse competition. Head of this famous group of riders is Joe MacDonald, a cattle hand on a ranch south of Maple Creek, who is famous throughout the north-west cattle lands as a daredevil bucking horse expert, a horse rider who never gives up till his wild mount is cowed and beaten. This galaxy of riding stars, as well as many others, have already won many marks for themselves for the finale and house furniture and farming implements. And the efficient Danes set Europe to example. Our result is that Danish butter is eaten in countries east of the Suez Canal and south of the equator. Vast quantities of Danish butter are shipped and the British last year sent continental countries and the output is so great, the quality so high, and the reputation of Danish butter so widespread, that it finds customers in lands far from the Danish farms as Patagonia or Tahiti.

In Denmark the bread is home-baked, the women spin wool which the village weavers make into cloth, or which they knit into stockings. The women make their own dresses. Often they make clothes for their husbands and sons. Many make woolen shawls for the family and house furniture and farming implements. And the efficient Danes set Europe to example. Our result is that Danish butter is eaten in countries east of the Suez Canal and south of the equator. Vast quantities of Danish butter are shipped and the British last year sent continental countries and the output is so great, the quality so high, and the reputation of Danish butter so widespread, that it finds customers in lands far from the Danish farms as Patagonia or Tahiti.

General Jacob Eugene Duryee, civil engineer, has prepared a report on war losses which shows that the German casualties in the present war exceed the war losses in Europe and America for the entire eighteenth and nineteenth centuries.

General Duryee is the son of the late General Abram Duryee, organizer of the Fifth Regiment, New York Volunteers, better known as Duryee's regiment, for which he was standard-bearer for twenty years. He commanded the Second Maryland Regiment in the battle of Antietam at the age of 24. He lives in California, but is a citizen of the United States in New York. The General has taken his figures for losses in the present war from the New York Times.

This study shows that in the battles of the present war, up to the present, a total of 1,965,700 men engaged, of whom 316,490 were killed or wounded; in the battles of the nineteenth century there were 7,315,912 men engaged, of whom 1,000,000 were killed, making a total for both centuries of 9,181,612 men, with casualties of 1,409,691. He quotes the British official estimate of German losses, published in the New York Times, as showing a total of 2,822,079, considering that in the twenty-one months since August, 1914, the Germans have lost 1,054,000 men and more than were lost by all the nations of Europe and America in the battles of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries.

In none of the battles General Duryee takes into consideration were less than 75,000 men engaged, the lowest on the list being the battle of Orthez, in 1814, with 77,000 men engaged. The greatest number in any battle, exclusive of the present war, was in the world's war, at Leipzig, in 1813, when 400,000 men fought. In the great battle of the nineteenth century at Leipzig, Wagram, Borodino, and Bantzen, there were altogether 1,373,000 men engaged. In the eighteenth century there was one battle fought in which there were as many as 200,000 fighters, the battle of Malplaquet, in 1709.

In comparison with the many battles in the present war, in which many hundreds of thousands face each other, General Duryee shows that of the fifteen great battles of the civil war in America, the largest number engaged in the battle of Fredericksburg in 1863 with 190,000 men and the battle of Chancellorsville with 192,000 in 1863 were the largest in the number of men engaged in loss of life in any battle, however, were smaller than in others, in which fewer men were engaged, notably Gettysburg, Chickamauga, Spotsylvania, and the Wilderness. The bloodiest battle fought in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries was Leipzig, when 224,000 were killed or wounded of the 445,000 engaged. The bloodiest battle on this continent was Gettysburg, when 51,000 were killed and wounded, of 163,000 engaged.

General Duryee gives the following list of German casualties as taken from The Times:

Losses of German Empire up to May 1, 1915, killed or died of wounds, 664,553; missing, 107,064; severely wounded, 385,513; wounded, 224,627; slightly wounded, 1,023,212; total, 2,525,000. This does not include prisoners, the number of sick, or those wounded who remain with units, the grand total being 2,822,079.—New York Times.

For the Summer Camper

Break your match in two before you throw it away.

Clear off a spot ten feet in diameter for your camp fire. Watch the fire all the time, and be sure it is out before you leave it.

It will take a conflagration to broil a trout. Have a small fire that will burn the coals quickly. Dry hard wood branches are best for cooking.

Throw your pipe ashes and cigar and cigarette butts into streams only or bury them in damp mineral soil.

If you own or use engines have spark arresters on them.

Burn your sport on calm, damp days, not dry, windy days.—From the Country Gentleman.

A Non-Conductor

An East Side teacher was endeavoring to elucidate some of the simpler phenomena of electricity, and at the close of her little lecture said to her class: "Can any of you children give me the name of a non-conductor and tell about it in a few words?" A sharp-eyed urchin exclaimed: "I kin, teacher," said Sam, "an' I'm glad one of you was a spott on his cap seen him down a fave. Old Holly's a non-conductor ever since."—Philadelphia Star.

A collector of subscriptions for the brass band fund once came across a farmer who was noted for his meanness. To his surprise the farmer, at once, said: "Can any of you children give me the name of a non-conductor and tell about it in a few words?" If you use $40 worth of Groceries in a month you will save $4.00 by buying it from us. In fact you will save more for the simple reason that our regular prices are always lower than the others, which means a double saving for you. Bring your Pay Day Order to us---you will be delighted with our Bargains.

Good News from the Dry Goods Dept.

The manager of this department has been confined to bed for a few days, and we were therefore unable to get a price list from him for this advt., but he will have an attractive window display specially priced for this sale. In addition to this he is going to give to each of the first five ladies entering the store on Saturday a Handsome Blouse Set FREE, and to each of the first five men a High Grade Pipe or a Good Shaving Brush. No purchase too small, so be on hand early and secure one of the prizes.

This Big Closing Out Sale will begin Next Saturday, July 15th
We cannot make special deliveries. Orders will be delivered in regular hours Order as early as possible

Q THE SALE will be for Cash only. Those who wish to buy on a two weeks' basis will be allowed 5 Per Cent Discount if the account is paid in full on Pay Day. This golden opportunity does not come every day and we would urge you to place your orders early, while the stock is complete and fresh. You can save money by ordering your Groceries from us.
